NDCRS ARCHITECTURAL SITE FORM
PAGE 5—SITE DESCRIPTIONField Code SX-EH-42SITS# 32 EM X6. Summary of ALL Site Features & Evaluation of Significance:

This property consists of several buildings with a wide range of ages: one mid- to late twentieth century ranch house (Feature 1), one barn (Feature 2), one modern farm operations and kennel building (Feature 3), one garage (Feature 4), one machine shed (Feature 5), four chicken/poultry houses (Features 6–9), four grain bins (Features 10, 14, 15), one schoolhouse (Feature 11), one shed (Feature 12), and one building that appears to have been recently moved from the location of Feature 17, (Feature 13). A concrete pad (Feature 18) is south of Feature 9, indicating that a building visible on the May 2017 aerial has either been demolished or also moved elsewhere. Landowner issues prevented the photography of several features.

Access to the property was limited, so full documentation of these structures was not possible. Most buildings have undergone window replacement, including older buildings like the barn and schoolhouse. Vinyl siding has been added to portions of the barn as well as the schoolhouse.

SX-EH-42 is a site lead that could not be fully recorded due to lack of permission to access the property. As such, SWCA recommends the site lead remain unevaluated regarding its National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) eligibility pending full recordation.

PAGE 3—Feature DataField Code SX-EH-42SITS# 32 EM XComplete a Page 3 for each feature.*1. Feature Description, Integrity, Eligibility:

This feature consists of a single story, white clapboard sided, schoolhouse fronted by a white picket fence. It has a pyramidal roof with a red brick chimney projecting from it. The front door has a fixed nine light window and is flanked by a four over four light window on each side. What appears to be a boarded over transom is above the door. The building appears to have been converted to either a detached office or guest house.

SX-EH-42 is a site lead that could not be fully recorded due to lack of permission to access the property. As such, SWCA recommends the site lead remain unevaluated regarding its National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) eligibility pending full recordation.
