This feature is a one room prairie school moved and placed on railroad ties. It moved for use as a granary. The hip roof has deteriorating asphalt shingles with some metal capping. There is no chimney. The soffits are closed.

The siding begins with a rake board under the eaves on all sides of the school. The remainder of the siding is 6 inch wood lap with 4 inch wood corner trim. There is a plywood door on the north side of the building. Window openings have all been filled in with 6 inch wood lap, there are 4 on the east side, 4 on the west side and two more on the south side. Also on the south side are two holes near the floor of the school, a hole on the east and another on west side, likely for use in removing grain. I did not see any of the interior.
