The feature is a one room prairie school house that sits on a farm site. We did not go into the fenced property so have we could see from the road. The school has no chimney and shakes for roofing with a metal ridge cap running the length. There is a wide trim board running along the underside of the peaks of the roof on each end. The structure has lap siding with board trim at the corners. There are three double hung windows on both the north and south sides. The windows are mostly intact with much of the glass missing. On the east end the wall was opened up and a garage door was installed.

Frank School was Granville Township School #1 and according to school records it closed in 1957. In visiting with a neighbor to the property I learned that the school was closed for a time and then reopened. That would happen for either too few students or lack of a teacher.
