The feature is a one room school that sits on a farm site. The building measures 14 feet north to south and 23 feet east to west with an entry porch that measures 14 by 7 feet. The present owner has no information about where the school might have come from. The roof of the school is covered with shakes and the shed entry also has shakes. The chimney is gone. The siding is 6 inch lap with 6 inch corner trim. There is a wide trim board running each peak of the roof. The school is being used for storage and we did not go inside. There is a door, perhaps original but in very rough shape today, on the north side of the entry with a small window opening to the right. There are 4 double hung windows on the north side and 4 more on the south side, all but one are covered. Tongue and groove flooring, mostly covered with junk. The ceiling is beadboard with a couple light fixtures. The electric wiring can be seen near the entry door. There is wainscoting on the walls that I could see.
