1. Feature Description, Integrity, Eligibility:

According to a former school student this school was moved to its present location from 3 – 4 miles south. Most usually these schools were moved because of the change in population and need for a school at another location. It was at the present location before 1958.

The main body prairie school measures 20' by 16' with the entry measuring 10' wide by 12' deep. There is very little paint left on the wood siding. The roof is shingled with wood shakes over wood roofing. All the glass in the windows is gone and some of the cross pieces as well. There is a cover over one window and part of another. I see a trim board running along the seam of the roof and walls on both the school and the entry. There is a wooden porch that give entry to the school. I did not go in to this school. On the south side of the school there are two doors, the entry door looks like it could be original. The door to the east gave access to the fuel storage area. According to the person I visited with this room was used for coal and/or wood storage until later when they had a port a pottie in that area for winter use. There is a brick chimney at the north end of the school, the bricks appear to be mixed color and could be original. There is a flag pole hanging off the south side of the entry.

Looking in the windows wood floors are grey, paint pretty worn. The walls are lath and plaster with wainscoting on the lower third with sheet rock on some areas that appear to have been repaired. The ceiling is falling away and looks to be sheetrock or something similar. The blackboard was on the north wall.

This school closed 1962/1963. As late as that school was open I saw no evidence of electricity.
